

Gender Pay Gap Reporting

Our Workforce Profile

Our Priorities

Gender diversity is a core part of our strategy. For example, we're finding ways to increase the proportion of women in leadership roles

We run targeted professional development activities to support female progression and have introduced unconscious bias training to our people managers

Our well established and growing network, Gender Equality Matters, helps raise awareness and understanding of gender equality in the workplace

We have made a public commitment through the Government's Women in Finance Charter with targets to increase women at board level and in our talent pipeline

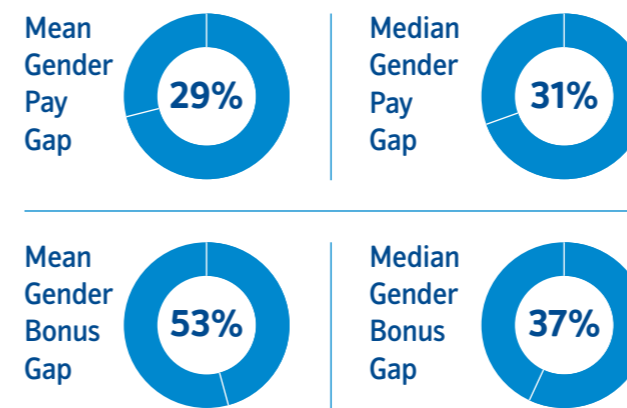

The Gender Pay Gap measures the difference in pay between all females and males across Nationwide¹. Nationwide's workforce profile has a big impact on the Gender Pay Gap that we are reporting, which is why we are focusing our attention on gender diversity.

Our Gender Pay Gap

How do we know our employees are paid fairly?

A gender pay gap and equal pay are not the same thing. Equal pay deals with pay differences between women and men who carry out the same or like work, or work of equal value. Through our regular Equal Pay Audits we review our pay system in detail. We operate a number of pay ranges across job levels and require there to be objective reasons for any differences within pay ranges, such as individual performance or length of service.

Proportion of Men & Women in each pay quartile

Quartile*	Proportion of Females	Proportion of Males	Gender Pay Gap
Lower	67%	33%	0%
Lower Middle	78%	22%	0%
Upper Middle	62%	38%	2%
Upper	40%	60%	5%

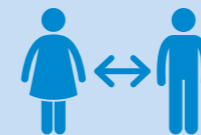

Proportion of Men & Women receiving a bonus

* Three quartiles have 4,647 people and one has 4,646. Each quartile represents one quarter of those working at Nationwide when ordered from lowest to highest paid. The Mean Gender Pay Gap per quartile is shown above.

¹ This includes employees of Nationwide, Non-Executive Directors and temporary workers who have a contract to perform work personally for Nationwide.

A gender pay gap doesn't mean that men and women in comparable roles are paid unfairly, the figures simply reflect our current workforce profile

The gender bonus gap is largely affected by our workforce profile, as well as the higher proportion of women that work part time as bonus payments are based on actual (part time) salary

Those individuals who did not qualify for a bonus payment include temporary workers, Non-Executive Directors, newer employees and a small number who performed below expectations

Gender Pay Gap: Percentage difference in hourly pay between all women and all men working at Nationwide as at 5 April 2017. Gender Bonus Gap: Percentage difference in bonus paid to all women and all men in the 12 months to 5 April 2017. All percentages are rounded to the nearest 1%. The Mean: The average, when all pay or bonuses for women and men are added together and divided by the number of women and men, this is the mean average. The Median: The middle value, when pay or bonuses for women and men are listed in numerical order, the middle number is the median.
