SELF-DIRECTED

Nationwide customer agreement

Customers not receiving advice

This important document describes the terms and conditions that will apply if you invest on a self-directed basis without advice. It explains what we will do and how we will do it. It is legally binding on both us and you.

You should read it alongside

- the Self-Directed Tariff of Charges, or the Online Tariff of Charges
- the specific literature for the product(s) you are buying.

While we know there is a lot to read, each document has a part to play. Together they ensure you have all the information you need before making a financial decision. It's very important that you read through them all and keep them safe for future reference.

This service does not provide personalised advice and Nationwide are not responsible for assessing the suitability of the Product or the Service. The Service has been designed for investors who are comfortable with making their own investment decisions. We will provide you with information on the products available. You will then need to make your own choice about how to proceed. If you are unsure you should seek advice.

We strongly advise you to read all the terms of this agreement as you will be legally bound by them whether or not you choose to read them.

In this agreement 'Nationwide' has the definition shown in the table opposite. Applications are only accepted from residents of the United Kingdom.

Past performance is not a guide to future performance. The value of investments and any income from them can fall as well as rise as a result of market and currency fluctuations and the effects of inflation, which could mean that you may not get back the amount originally invested.
